Reverse Mortgage Equity Impact

Many seniors who are considering Reverse Mortgages are concerned that this decision would take away their ability to leave any equity to their heirs.

In reality, with the updates that have been made to these programs recently it is now very possible that the homes appreciation will increase faster than the loan balance.

One of the services we provide for those who are considering a Reverse Mortgage is projections of their future equity position based on their specific loan needs and estimated appreciation rates.

For more information on this topic and an example of the equity projection over time analysis that we provide for our clients please see "Reverse Mortgage Equity Impact" tab for an example of this analysis.
